3.2 The Board reserves a formal schedule of matters for its decision to ensure that the direction and control of the Group is firmly in its hands, which matters include:

- 3.6 In addition, the Board shall take into consideration economic, environmental and social (EES) sustainability matters, and set targets wherever possible, together with management, in addressing the Group's material EES sustainability risks and opportunities.

4. BOARD STRUCTURE

4.1. Board Balance and Mix

- i) The Board recognises the importance of independence and objectivity in its decision making process. To achieve this objective, at least one-third of the Board shall consist of INEDs. Where the Chairman of the Board is not an INED, the Board should comprise a majority of INEDs to ensure a balance of power and authority on the Board.
- ii) The Company's Constitution allows a minimum of three (3) and a maximum of fifteen (15) Directors. It is important for the Board to keep its size at a reasonable level. Boards that are too small or too large may significantly limit the level of individual participation, involvement and effectiveness. The Board shall, from time to time, examine its size and composition as well as the impact of its number and diversity, including gender diversity, on the Board's effectiveness.
- iii) The Board also recognises the importance of having a clearly accepted division of power and responsibilities at the head of the Company to promote accountability and to facilitate a division of responsibilities. For this purpose, the office of Chairman of the Board and Group CEO shall be held by two different individuals.
- iv) The Board recognises the need for its composition to reflect a range of skills and expertise. High levels of professional skills and appropriate personal qualities are pre-requisites for directorship. Without limiting the foregoing, the qualifications for Board membership are:
 - a) ability to understand financial statements and form a view on the information presented in those statements;
 - b) ability to make informed business decisions and recommendations;
 - c) entrepreneurial talent for contributing to the creation of shareholders' value;
 - d) relevant experience;
 - e) ability to appreciate the wider picture;
 - f) ability to ask probing operational related questions;
 - g) high ethical standards in dealing with potential conflict of interest situations;
 - h) sound practical sense, and
 - i) a commitment to serve the Company with due diligence and integrity.

In addressing this, the Board shall consider the recommendations of the NC pertaining to nominees for directorship in the Company.

- v) For the assessment and selection of Directors, the NC shall be guided by the Directors' Fit and Proper Policy when considering the potential Director's character, experience, competence, integrity and time as well as the following factors:

- a) skills, knowledge, expertise and experience;
 - b) professionalism;
 - c) commitment;
 - d) contribution and performance;
 - e) integrity; and
 - f) in the case of candidates for the position of an INED, the Board shall also evaluate the candidate's ability to discharge such responsibilities and/or functions as are expected of an INED.
- vi) The Board identifies and appoints from amongst its members a Senior INED, to whom the concerns of Directors and shareholders may be conveyed. The name of the Senior INED shall be disclosed in the annual reports of the Company.

4.2 Role of the Chairman

The Chairman carries out a leadership role in the conduct of the Board and its relations to shareholders and other stakeholders. The Chairman is primarily responsible for the following:

- i) representing the Board to shareholders and ensuring that appropriate steps are taken to provide effective communication with stakeholders so that their views are communicated to the Board as a whole;
- ii) ensuring that all general meetings of the Company support meaningful engagement between the Board, senior management and shareholders with interactive and robust discussion on, amongst others, the Company's financial and non-financial performance as well as the Company's long term strategies.
- iii) instilling the practice of good corporate governance, and leading the board in establishing and ensuring the adequacy and integrity of the governance process;
- iv) leading the Board in its oversight on management by maintaining regular dialogue with the Group CEO over operational matters and consulting with the other members of the Board promptly over matters, if any, that the Chairman may deem as major concerns to the Company and/or the Group;
- v) providing leadership so that the Board can perform its functions effectively by:
 - a) setting the agenda for Board meetings;
 - b) ensuring that the Board members receive complete and accurate information in a timely manner to facilitate informed decision-making;
 - c) leading all Board meetings and Board discussions;
 - d) ensuring that no Director dominates the Board discussions;
 - e) ensuring that appropriate discussions take place and that relevant opinions amongst the Board members are forthcoming;
 - f) ensuring that the Board discussions result in logical and understandable outcomes;
 - g) ensuring that all Directors are enabled and encouraged to participate at Board meetings;
 - h) ensuring that EDs look beyond their executive functions and accept their full share of the responsibility of governance;
 - i) guiding and mediating the Board's actions with respect to organisational priorities and governance concerns; and

vi) performing such other functions as may be assigned by the Board from time to time.

To ensure check and balance, the Chairman shall not be a member of the AC, NC and RC.

4.3 Role of Executive and Non-Executive-Directors

EDs are, as employees, involved in the day-to-day management of the Company and Group whilst Non-Executive Directors are Directors:

- i) who do not have any direct or indirect pecuniary interest in the Company other than their Directors' emoluments as approved by the shareholders and their 'permitted' shareholdings in the Company;
- ii) who are not employees of the Company or affiliated with it in any other way and are not involved in the day-to-day running of the Group's businesses but may have pecuniary interest; or
- iii) who are not employees of the Company but are standing as nominees for substantial shareholders.

The Act makes no distinction between Executive and Non-Executive Directors in terms of the legal duties that are imposed on Directors.

Non-Executive Directors may act as a bridge between management, shareholders and other stakeholders. They should provide the relevant checks and balances, focusing on the interests of shareholders and other stakeholders, and ensuring that high standards of corporate governance are applied.

4.4 Role of Independent Non-Executive Directors

INEDs are essential for protecting the interests of shareholders in that they provide detached impartiality to the Board's decision-making process. Since INEDs do not have any conflict of interest, they ought to, in the discharge of their duties, approach approvals for transactions or other matters, that are being sought at the Board level with a watchful eye and with an inquiring mind.

INEDs are especially important in areas where the interests of management, the Company and/or shareholders diverge, such as executive performance and remuneration, related party transactions and audit.

It is important to bear in mind that BMSB emphasises that even if a person does not fall within any of the disqualifying indicators as defined in the Listing Requirements, the Directors and the Board must give effect to the spirit, intention and purpose of the definition of an INED. There must be a conscious application of the test on whether an INED is able to exercise independent judgment and act in the best interest of the Company.

The attributes of collegial yet independent decision-making vested in INEDs will be determined in part by the character of the individual INEDs and that of the whole ethos of the Board.

4.5 Role of the Senior Independent Non-Executive Director

In addition to being the designated Director to whom concerns on the Company may be conveyed, the Senior INED shall play the role as a sounding board for the Chairman, as an intermediary for other Directors when necessary, and as a point of contact for shareholders and other stakeholders.

4.6 Role of the Group CEO

- i) The position of Group CEO, in essence, is to ensure the effective implementation of the Group's strategic plan and policies established by the Board as well as to manage the daily conduct of the Group's businesses and to ensure its smooth operations.
- ii) The Group CEO is accountable to the Board for the achievement of the Group's goals and objectives, and he is accountable to the Board for the observance of management's authority limits.
- iii) At each of the scheduled Board meetings, the Board should expect to receive from the Group CEO:
 - a) summary reports on the performance and activities of the Group and specific proposals for capital expenditure, acquisitions and disposals; and
 - b) such assurances as the Board considers necessary to confirm that management's authority limits are being observed.
- iv) The Group CEO is expected to act within all specific authorities delegated to him by the Board.
- v) Generally, the Group CEO is responsible for the following:
 - a) executive management of the Group's businesses, covering, inter-alia, the development of a sustainable strategic plan, an annual business plan and budget, performance benchmarks to gauge management's performance, and an analysis of management's reports;
 - b) developing long-term strategic and short-term profit plans, designed to ensure that the Group's requirements for growth, profitability and return on capital are achieved;
 - c) directing and controlling all aspects of the Group's business operations in a cost effective manner;
 - d) effectively overseeing the human resource of the Group with respect to key positions, and ensuring the general well-being of employees, including the determination of remuneration as well as the terms and conditions of employment for senior management personnel and issues pertaining to discipline of employees;
 - e) effectively representing the interests of the Group with major customers, the government and its agencies, and industries at large to ensure general goodwill towards the Group and cooperation in the Group's planned developments;
 - f) assuring that the Group's corporate identity, products and services are of high standards and are reflective of the market environment;

- g) providing assistance to members of the AC, NC, RC and BRMC, as and when required, in the discharge of their duties; and
- h) assisting the Chairman in organising the agenda for Board meetings and information needed by the Board for deliberation at the Board meetings.

In discharging the above responsibilities, the Group CEO is free to delegate such appropriate functions to any other management personnel, who shall report directly to him.

4.7 Tenure of Directors

- i) All Directors shall retire at least once in every three (3) years but shall be eligible for re-election provided that all Directors above the age of 75 years and all INEDs who have served on the Board for more than 12 years shall not be eligible for re-election.
- ii) Shareholders' approval shall be obtained annually for an INED who has served for a period of more than nine years to remain in office as an INED up to the twelfth year, after which time, his tenure of service on the Board shall expire at the nearest AGM.

4.8 Company Secretary

- i) The appointment and removal of the Company Secretary is a matter for the Board as a whole. The Board recognises the fact that the Company Secretary should be suitably qualified and capable of carrying out the duties required for the post.
- ii) The key role of the Company Secretary is to provide advice to the Board and the Board Committees on their responsibilities in accordance with applicable laws and regulations and their respective terms of reference to enhance the effective functioning of the Board and the Board Committees.

 - c) preparing comprehensive minutes to document Board proceedings and ensuring that deliberations and decisions are accurately recorded;
 - d) monitoring corporate governance developments and assisting the Board in applying the governance practices;
 - e) facilitating the induction of new Directors and assisting in arrangements for Directors' continuous professional development (CPD) programmes; and
 - f) carrying out such other functions as directed by the Board from time to time.

4.9 Board Committees

The Board reserves the right to establish committees from time to time in the discharge of its duties and responsibilities. Where a committee is formed, specific terms of reference of the committee shall be established in writing to cover matters such as the objectives, composition, functions and authority of the committee.
